MILES OF DITCH across the rolling farmlands of Saskatchewan are being dug by this ditching machine working on the Trans-Canada Pipe Lines project to take natural gas from Alberta to Eastern Canada. The 34-inch pipe has already been strung along the 65-ft. right-of-way, waiting for the equipment which will transform it into a continuous line 574 miles long from the Alberta-Saskatchewan border to Winnipeg.

Gov't Report Says Alberta Farmers Better Off This Year With More Cash

The cash income position of Alberta farmers in the first half of 1956 was well above that of the corresponding period in 1955, the Alberta government says.

In its quarterly review of business conditions, the government said almost every sector of the provincial economy was in a better position at the end of June than at the same time last year.

However, the review said that "employment indicators reveal that the employment situation is becoming critical with employment in almost every group well above 1955 and shortages occurring in practically all groups."

The report said value of construction has again climbed to new heights and is well ahead of 1955. Both wholesale and retail trade showed increases over the first six months of 1955.

Cash income from major farm products brought $179,360,000 compared with $156,780,000 in the first half of 1955.

Grains brought $94,036,000 compared with $70,160,000 but income from livestock dropped to $70,476,000 from $72,520,000. Income from dairy products was $10,989,000 from $10,818,000. Poultry products increased in value to $3,859,000 from $3,282,000, a rise of 17.6 per cent.

Production of crude petroleum rose to 55,930,827 barrels from 41,021,280 in the January-May period an increase of 36.3 per cent. There was a 22.9 per cent increase in production of natural gas.

Value of building permits issued in the first six months increased by 15 per cent in Calgary, 20.5 per cent in Edmonton, 4.1 per cent in Lethbridge and 28.5 per cent in Medicine Hat. The total value of building permits issued for the eight cities was 12.8 per cent higher than in the first half of 1955 and the total for 169 towns and villages reporting increased by 170.2 per cent.

Figures on contracts awarded showed a total increase of 83.4 per-cent to $136,500,000 from $74,400,000. Residential construction was up to $34,900,000 from $27,200,000.

Retail sales increased in the January - May period to $407,800,000 from $371,400,000.

Sales of new motor vehicles increased 13 per cent over the first five months of 1955.

Increased business activity coupled with good weather for construction produced labor shortages.

Visitors to national parks and reserves totalled 761,694 compared with 722,579 in the first six months of 1955, a 5.4 per cent increase.

Alberta had 2,186,000 cattle on June 1, a record, compared with 2,085,000 a year earlier.

Net marketings of cattle from Jan. 1 to May 31 were 226,000 head, compared with 210,700 in the same period of 1955.

The department reported there were 1,455,000 swine in the province June 1 compared with 1,620,000 a year earlier; 455,000 sheep compared with 460,000, and 162,000 horses compared with 176,000.

Rising Waters Of Lac la Biche Cause Concern

The level of Lac la Biche continues to rise day by day as the older residents of the district shake their heads and wonder when the high point will be reached. This week the section of highway skirting the lake at the entrance to the town began to deteriorate as water washed across the grade and traffic began to cause soft spots. Gravel trucks have been put to work and crews are employed to keep the grade in shape for the busy traffic which cannot be diverted. At the time of going to press it appeared that the situation was well in hand and the grade was holding up satisfactorily.

Several loads of rocks were hauled to the point where water is taken from the lake for the town's water system, as waves had started to damage the shore near the building which houses the pumps and equipment. It is feared that if a prolonged period of high winds should occur, damage to the town's equipment might be serious, not to mention the two docks, which have already taken a heavy beating.

Mrs. C. Hamel, who checks the level of the lake each week, and who has resided here for 35 years, says she has never seen the lake as high as at present. She reports that the level rose two inches in the past week and it has not shown a decline at any time since the spring break-up.

WOODWORKERS STRIKE

Local 1-207, International Woodworkers of America established picket lines at the Marlboro, Blue Ridge, Barrhead and Kinuso operations of Imperial Lumber Company Ltd., on Aug. 13-14.

The strike took place as result of the company refusing to sign a contract covering approximately 125 employees.

Negotiations with the company commenced in August of 1955 and went through all the steps required by the Alberta labor act. Early in 1956 an arbitration board handed down an unanimous award, which among other items contained a 25c per hour wage increase for all employees and brought the base rate from 85c per hour to $1.10 per hour.

In a vote conducted by the department of industries and labor, the employees accepted the award by an overwhelming majority. The company rejected the award. Subsequently the employees voted in favor of strike action by a majority of over 75% in a vote also conducted by the department of industries and labor.

This is the first strike conducted by Local 1-207. The union is issuing relief to their members on the picket lines and are prepared to maintain the lines indefinitely. The strike action is being backed by district council No. 1 of the International Woodworkers of America and its membership of 30,000 in Alberta and British Columbia.

The local union holds signed contracts with Swanson Lumber Co. Ltd., Clearwater Timber Products and McRae Lumber Co. Ltd. The union is the bargaining representative for the Woodlands Division of North Western Pulp and Power Ltd. at Hinton, and Western Plywoods (Alberta) Ltd., Edmonton.

New Road For Old Time Resident

RICH LAKE — After residing in the district for many years, Andrew Haimla and family are getting a road to their farm. For many years they travelled a round-about trail through the bush. A few years ago a road was built for three-quarter miles from the main road, along the regular road allowance. Mr. Haimla built a corduroy at the end of this stretch two years ago. He still had to leave his car there and pack his goods to the house.

Last spring the corduroy almost floated away. Now, at last, a road is being built over the corduroy to his corner.

There have also been some badly needed road signs placed at local corners, with directions and distances to Lac la Biche, St. Paul, Goose Lake and Normandeau.

Health Notes

By D. APPELT, B.Sc. R.N.

Tuberculosis is caused by a germ so small that it can barely be seen under ordinary microscopes. Under a high powered microscope it looks rather like a "hot dog". It lives best in the human body, especially in the lungs. Though this germ stays alive outside the body it is hard to get it to grow and multiply. It has a waxy coating which helps it resist drying, and it will live through more heat than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria germs. It grows slowly and so may damage the lungs before the person realizes that anything is wrong.

More than 3,000 Canadians die from T.B. every year—more than from all other communicable diseases combined. There are over 17,000 cases in sanatoria and perhaps three times that many outside. Most of those outside sanatoria don't know they have tuberculosis.

How The Germ Gets Around

Every new case of T.B. is caused by germs from another case. Careless coughing, sneezing or spitting may loose showers of germs. These germs may settle on dust, dishes or towels or may travel a few feet from person to person. They could be breathed in, or swallowed in food or drink by healthy persons.

Once inside the body the T. B. germs try to grow and multiply usually in the lungs. The body tries to stop them by sealing them into tiny prisons which appear as scars in the lung and are called tubercles. Usually the body wins over the invading T.B. germs, but if germs enter the body faster than it can wall them off (as happens when you are in close, long contact with a contagious case) some germs will be left free to damage the lungs. The body's job is harder if it is also fighting neglect and other illness. If body resistance is lowered, T. B. germs have a better chance. Those sealed away may even break out of prison.

Many people have T.B germs in their bodies. You may have some but it doesn't necessarily mean that you have T.B. Your body has probably succeeded in walling off the germs. However, you should know if you have T.B. germs. This can be determined by means of a tuberculin test. It is a simple skin test which doesn't hurt. If the test is positive, showing that you have had some contact with T.B., you should have a chest X-ray to make sure the germs haven't taken hold. You can't afford not to know. Knowing in time gives the T. B. patient a better chance of defeating the germs. Most of those who have died of T.B. lost out because treatment was not started soon enough.

Doctors like to find T. B. before there is coughing, loss of weight or spitting of blood. Only chest X-ray shows it that early. T. B. found early is cured with less loss of time and money. Regular chest X-rays are wise for all. It is the only sure way to know that everything is staying all right.

If the doctor finds that you have T.B. germs in your body it may mean that you got them from a relative or friend. Get the other members of your family and other people who live, work or play with you to have a chest X-ray to make sure. One of them may have been giving you the germs. without knowing it. Any person who is spreading germs should be in a sanatorium where he can be under treatment and where his germs won't endanger others.

You can arm yourself against disease by following these simple rules:

Sleep 8 - 10 hours every night.

Eat plenty of meat, greens, fruits, cereals, pasteurized milk.

Bathe often, wash hands before eating.

Wash all fruits and vegetables well.

Have a yearly physicial examination.

Ask your doctor to arrange for you to have a chest x-ray and ask him how often it should be repeated.

Canada's great system of national parks began in 1885.

Council Considers Request For New Service Station

At the regular meeting of the Lac la Biche town council held in the town office, Aug. 14, a representative of Purity 99 Oil Co. was present to make inquiry concerning his company operating a service station and bulk oil plant within the town. The council decided the town planner should be consulted as to whether such business should be classified as commercial or industrial. If it proved to be commercial, the council had no objection to the company establishing a business on the site chosen.

E. Shanks was given permission by the council, after due consideration, to operate his gas pump, although it is already installed on the street.

A resident from the south side of town interviewed the council and asked for gravel on the streets and especially on a hill in that area. Council promised that if the road was not rebuilt by the government before winter, the town would gravel the hill.

The caretaker of the cemetery asked the council to use some cemetery funds for maintenance purposes. The councilman in charge of such matters will be asked to look into the situation.

The N.A.R. divisional engineer, W. Halasa, was present to arrange for installation of water and sewer services in a new staff building being erected on railroad property. Council agreed to put in the necessary services.

The public works committee will be in charge of hiring a crew and foreman for the work.

DISTRICT AGRICULTURIST NOTES

By J. S. LORE

In my column last week I mentioned the value of crop rotation in controlling weeds. There are other advantages and one can see the results of them in most districts now. There are some very fine grain crops and invariably these crops are on land one or two years out of legumes. In most districts you do not need to travel far to see some very poor crops and these crops are generally five to six years of straight grain.

The fellow with a good crop on land recently broken up from legumes will harvest twice as many bushels per acre as the fellow with inferior crop on old land. One does not need to be a mathematical wizard to figure that the profits from the good crop will more than double the profit from the poor crop, since cultivation, seeding and harvesting costs will be very nearly the same from the two fields. Usually, using this line of reasoning, you can see that you will produce just as many bushels by keeping half of the land sown down to legume hay mixtures and cropping the other half.

A good rotation for this area is a short six year rotation having each field sown down to legumes for three years and grain for three years. The biggest problem of the rotation is getting started, as the benefits seem so far in the future. The only thing to do is to start next spring and seed your oldest field down to hay with or without nurse crop. The following year seed the next oldest field down to legumes and the next year the third field. The third year you cut the crop of hay of the first field that was seeded down, and then you plough it up after the first crop of hay is removed and keep it tilled until freeze-up. Now this field will be in an excellent condition and will produce a superior crop the next year. From then on, in your rotation you merely seed your oldest field down to hay in the spring and plough up the oldest hay field after removing the first crop of hay.

By adopting a rotation such as this you will be seeding half of the land every year and will harvest at least as much grain and all the hay besides, with no more expense. If you do not adopt a rotation your grain yield will continue to diminish and your expenses will remain or increase slightly and you will eventually wind up with no farm. Crop rotations are a proven practice and you are not keeping up with modern farming practices, if you do not have this plan in operation on your farm.

If you are interested in setting up a crop rotation for your farm, I will be glad to come out to your farm and help you set up a rotation plan for your farm.

HOME HINTS

Have you or your daughter come to the stage where you're wondering what to do now? That is, now that she's finished school and ready to get out on her own. Well, if you haven't considered the Schools of Agriculture and Home Economics then perhaps you should. Here she can learn to sew and cook, nurse at home as well as train for a job in the stenographic field. This year they've revised the courses to take in commercial subjects as typing, bookkeeping and shorthand. Mainly to give the girls a chance for a job as well as training them for homemaking tasks.

Besides this academic life they can enjoy dramatics and sports along with the spirited social life on the school campus. I don't think any girl who has gone there ever regretted it. And the experience and knowledge gained is most valuable.

The girls have to be 16 (sixteen) years old and the school term starts each year late in October and closes early in April. There's no tuition fee and board and room is only $40.00 a month.

All considered there's no better opportunity offered for girls, so write for full information to:

The Principal, School of Home Economics, Olds, Vermilion or Fairview.

Couple Honeymoon In Montana

St. Catherine's Church, Lac la Biche, was the scene of a pretty wedding, Aug. 15 at 10 a.m., when Hazel Eileen Gray, daughter of Mr. Bihe, and John Bouvier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bouvier of Egg Lake, were united in marriage, Father McGrane officiating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in traditional white satin featured with a lace overskirt and bolero. Her finertip veil was held in place by a tiara of pearls. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Attendants preceding the bride down the aisle were maid-of-honor, Miss Ruth Gray, sister of the bride, Miss Mary Rossi and Miss Lorraine Bouvier, sister of the groom. They chose identical gowns of blue satin fashioned with overskirts of net. Miss Gray wore a dainty chapel veil of net, while the bridesmaids wore matching blue bandeaus in their hair. They carried colonial bouquets of lilies-of-the-valley and rosebuds.

Supporting the groom were Paul Bouvier, brother of the groom, Robert Gray, brother of the bride, and Wilfred Bourassa.

Miss Yvonne Langevin presided at the organ, and during the service special music was rendered by the Langevin sisters.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner for 40 relatives and close friends was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bouvier of Egg Lake.

Later in the day a reception was held in the memorial hall. Mrs. Gray, mother of the bride, received her guests becomingly gowned in a grey two-piece dress, with white acccessories. Her corsage was American Beauty roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. Bouvier, chose a grey suit with white accessories. Her corsage was also of roses.

The bride's table was laid in white and centred with a three-tiered wedding cake. More than 200 friends attended the reception and dance which followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bouvier left later for a honeymoon trip to Montana and points in British Columbia. They will make their home in Fort Nelson, B.C., where the groom, who has been with the DOT for several years, has been transferred.

Shower Honorh Bride Elect

Miss Eileen Gray was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held Aug. 9 at the home of Mrs. Alex Proctor. More than 40 friends gathered for a pleasant social evening. Many beautiful and useful gifts were presented to the bride-elect. A lovely lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Atmore

History was made in Atmore on Saturday, August 4. Calgary Power lines were connected and the bright lights were turned on. What a pleasure to find lights available at any hour of day or night.

Civic holiday visitors to Atmore included Mr. and Mrs. Ken Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. Draper, at the home of Mrs. M. Campbell; Mrs. Cecile Page visited her son, Roddy at the I. McKenzie home, and Miss Madelint Genoud visited her mother and relatives.

Claudette Bossel is vacationing with her aunt and uncle in Atmore.

On August 10 Claudette Bossel celebrated her seventh birthday. A party was enjoyed on the V. F. Genoud lawn.

Those attending the McKenzie-Christopherson wedding at Metropolitan United Church, Edmonton, on Aug. 1, included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira McKenzie, and his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dakin.

While his parents were in Edmonton this past week-end, David Dakin visited his uncle, George Dakin.

Mrs. D. Shanks is receiving medical attention in Edmonton. The children are holidaying in the district.

A cement bee was held in Atmore last Saturday, when the foundation of the new V. F. Genoud home was poured.

Frains

Dan Shwetz, John Pfau and George Waselenchuk motored to Caslan recently on business.

Joe Chodzicki, his mother, and Pete Pusharsky attended St. Mary's festival at Skaro on Wednesday.

Frains people are busy picking blueberries for canning and some for market.

Too much success invariably sours one's friends.
